FISHING ON PUGET SOUND.

A Seattle Man Writes East that Fishing is in a Very Crude, Undeveloped State.

GLOUCESTER, MASS., March 7.

Allan McDonald, who resides at Seattle, a few weeks ago inspected the fishing there, has written a letter which says that "fishing on Puget Sound is not what it is cracked up to be. If I would believe what they tell me, there are halibut along the coast line, but it will require energy and big capital to develop the business. Ice is worth $8 a ton. Sale dear. Anything connected with fishing vessels is not to be found here. To get an outfit you must go to San Francisco. Gloucester fishermen who went there sometime ago in a little craft, went down near Cape Flattery and found some halibut, but they spoiled before reaching market. I have no doubt that if a person had a small steamer and plenty of vim and capital; waited some time for returns there might be money in fisheries. Now it is in fearfully crude condition, but perhaps when the land boom dies out, they may turn attention to the fisheries. Say to Gloucester people to be slow in rushing there."

A Most Horrible Experience.

Fargo, Dakoto, March 7.—News has been brought from Minnie Waukon that a man and his son living near Poplar Grove, twenty-four miles southeast of Fort Totten, had been eaten alive by a pack of wolves. They had left the house with shovels to clear the snow from around a haystack not more than twenty rods distant, when they were attacked by a pack of sixteen wolves, which literally ate them alive, while the wife and mother gazed through the window at the horrible sight, knowing it was certain death to go out to their assistance.

Oregon Indian War Claims.

WASHINGTON, March 6.—The Indian office to-day passed upon the claim of Austin Rice, of Douglas county, Oregon, allowing the amount claimed, $470 50, for loss sustained by the Rogue River and Crow Creek Indians in 1855. The claim of Barney P. Simmons, of Douglas county, Oregon, for a loss by the same Indians in 1855, was not allowed, the evidence being insufficient. The claim of Wm. Hutson, of Douglas county, Oregon, of $834 was allowed. This loss was sustained by the Umpqua Indians in 1855.

Death of Louise Alcott.

NEW YORK, March 6.—Miss Louise M. Alcott died this morning. For a long time Miss Alcott has been ill, and has been residing in Highlands for her health. Thursday she drove in town to meet her father, and caught cold, which settled at the base of the brain and developed into spinal meningitis. Miss Alcott was born on the anniversary of her father's birthday, and it is singular that she should have followed him so soon to the grave. Miss Alcott was born in 1833 and was known in "Oliver Optic."

BLOODSHED IN OHIO.

"Oliver Optic" Dead—Postal Clerk Arrested—A Human Brute, Etc.

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio, March 6.—News has just reached here of a wholesale shooting and lynching in Shannon county, which has been going on since Wednesday last, but which had not been known here until late last night on account of the secluded situation of the scene. Wednesday afternoon William McKee, a member of the firm of McTigh & Co., of Memphis, who are building the Currant river branches of the Gulf railroad, arrived at Winona, 125 miles southeast of this city, to look over the work. The men have not received any pay for some time, and when McKee made his appearance a large crowd of them demanded the money due. McKee refused to comply until he had seen the engineer of the construction.

Anger carried the men beyond the control of the bosses, and upon McKee's refusal, they dragged him from his carriage to the court yard. A rope was placed around his neck and he was drawn from the ground. The men allowed him to hang until he became insensible. Trouble later ensued between George Madden, a sub-contractor, and John Rucker, a constable, which ended in the latter shooting Madden dead. Madden's friends then turned their attention to Rucker, who was endeavoring to make his escape. The angry mob of laborers with whom Madden was a favorite, was soon following Rucker with the avowed intention of lynching him. He struck out for the hills, turning every moment and firing at his pursuers, several of whom he killed.

A large portion of the mob kept up the chase after Rucker, while some returned to Winona and collecting still more men started out to revenge themselves upon the constable's friends. Two of them were caught and lynched by the infuriated railroaders, while another, who had barricaded himself in a house was shot. Additional forces moving for the hills to assist in the search for Rucker say they will not return until they have caught and lynched him.

C. B. & Q. Strike.

CHICAGO, March 6.—The strike has now resolved itself into a game of freezeout, and that is practically the situation this morning. If the engineers carry out the promise made yesterday it will have the effect of preventing the Burlington road from doing any through business. Burlington officials say they are prepared to abide by this decision and confine business entirely to the territory covered by their own system. They claim to have filled 60 per cent of the places of the strikers, and say they only want 75 per cent, as the road before the strike had more men than it needed. They expect to be ready to receive live stock and perishable freight to-day.

A Thieving Postal Clerk.

BONHAM, Tex., March 6.—This evening Sheriff Evans and an Illinois officer named Fortenberry arrived in this city from Trenton, this county, where they arrested a man by the name of E. Mundy, who is wanted in Mount Carmel, Ill., for robbing the mails. Mundy was a postal clerk, and at various times abstracted registered packages from the mails. He was lodged in jail here and the Illinois officer will leave with him to-morrow. Several indictments are pending against Mundy in Southern Illinois, where he has gained the reputation of a notorious mail robber.

Another Postoffice.

WASHINGTON, March 6.—A post office was established to-day at Ferry, Curry county, Oregon, and Sarah E. Cooley appointed as Postmistress.
